

CRIME AND CRIMINALS.

A Singular Case of Assault on Rape Reported.

A Young Girl's Frightful Experience With a Desperate Ruffian—Wendlandt's Bad Break—Warrant Out for His Arrest.

A singular case of assault to commit rape was brought to light in Police Justice Austin's court yesterday. The complaining witness is Mr. Heinzer, who resides in a little three-room house on Tracy street, East Los Angeles, and the defendant is either a negro or Mexican boy, and the victim is Mr. Heinzer's little six-year-old daughter, Gertrude.

The child was alone in the kitchen at the rear of the house washing, and, as she has been troubled several times of late by a dark boy, who she thinks is a negro, she had both the front and back doors locked and thought she was perfectly safe, when a trap door in the kitchen floor, that she thought was securely fastened, opened, and her tormentor popped up like a make-believe devil in the Black Cat.

The little girl made a rush for the front room, where she was caught and overpowered by the fiend. She was thrown on the bed and bound hand and foot. The brute then proceeded to remove her clothing, and the aid of a jack knife, and as he made ready to accomplish his vile purpose he told her that he would cut her throat if she screamed or made an attempt to escape. In some manner the girl was able to frighten the fiend, when he sprang suddenly from the fellow's clutches and ran to the front door, calling for help at the top of her voice. The sudden movement of the girl and her cries for help so frightened the fiend that he ran through the back door and made good his escape before any of the neighbors arrived.

This happened at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, and the officers have been looking for the fiend ever since, but they have failed to locate him. The girl knows him well by sight, and if he is captured there will be no trouble in identifying the brute.

THE POSTOFFICE FIRE.

The Latest Theory as to the Mysterious Judge.

The mystery surrounding the recent fire at the postoffice has not yet been cleared up. The occupant of the room where the coal oil explosion took place has never come forward, nor has his identity been disclosed.

It will be remembered that the room as near as could be learned after it had been gutted by the fire had been fitted up in a most singular manner. Heavy curtains were extended around the room as if the occupant or occupants wished to deaden some kind of a noise, the window panes were sanded, the transoms closed with heavy curtains and even the keyhole was covered. The furniture and effects as near as could be learned are of a character that lead the firemen to believe that the room was occupied by counterfeiters.

Nothing could be found to confirm this suspicion, but it has since been learned that considerable bogus coin has been floated in the city and a few days ago a gang of counterfeiters were caught in San Francisco and the officers are of the opinion that they have been operating in the section of the country.

It is believed that the secret service detectives for the Government were so close on the track of the fellows down here that they decided to vacate their den at 4 o'clock last Sunday morning and to cover their tracks they arranged a coal oil stove so that it would explode in a few minutes and thus set fire to the building.

There is something decidedly mysterious about the fire and it would be advisable for the detectives who have the San Francisco case in hand to do a little work on this end of the line.

IN A BAD BOAT.

A Well-known Citizen, and His Little Game.

A warrant was issued yesterday by Justice Austin's court charging T. Weisendanger with obtaining money by false pretenses.

The complaining witness is N. Kline, a Mendocino farmer. On the 28th of last December Mr. Kline leased sixty-five acres of land for seven months for $125. Weisendanger informed Kline that he was in need of the land and he drew up a lease for which Kline paid him $125 and at once proceeded to put in a crop on the leased land.

He had just completed his work when Dan McFarland, Charles McFarland and Mr. Gornally put in an appearance and informed the farmer that the land belonged to them and that he had no right there. As soon as the gentlemen were made acquainted with the facts in the matter they consented to let Mr. Kline harvest his crop, on his promise to pay them $125, the sum he had paid Weisendanger.

They proved to the farmer beyond a doubt that Weisendanger had no right to lease the land, and this decided Mr. Kline on bringing a criminal charge when he learned that Weisendanger had not returned the $125.

The warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Constable Harry Johnston, but up to a late hour last night Weisendanger had not been arrested.

Criminal Notes.
John Nelson, the man who exhibited a deadly weapon and committed battery on the person of Mrs. Haven the other day, was before Police Justice Owens yesterday and had his case set for trial on the 28th inst.

A solitary drunk, who celebrated the Cleveland nomination Wednesday night, was before the Police Court yesterday, and as Democrats are scarcer in this city than ever before, the Court let him off on the payment of $5 fine.

Louis Schmidt, who was arrested a week ago on complaint of Mrs. R. Ferne, who claimed that he had embezzled a $3000 account, was discharged yesterday. He returned the music box and the complaining witness, who was his mother, refused to appear in court.

C. P. Gerken was before Justice Owens yesterday on complaint of Richard Wolf, who charges him with battery. Wolf is 15 years of age, and Gerken claims that Wolf was beating his seven-year-old boy when he intervened. The case will be tried Monday.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

For President,
BENJ. HARRISON.....of Indiana.
For Vice-President,
WHITELAW REID.....of New York.

The off-hand, breezy manner in which the average Buffalo club editor of the Federal brigade reads out of the Republican party all the Republicans who do not favor the renomination of Mr. Harrison is an evidence of the brain muscle which official pag generates. In old times it was called gall. It is used by a would-be official censor as a lash to bring recalcitrants up to the rack.

HON. JAMES W. NEWMAN, editor of the Portsmouth (O.) Times, was here with the editorial excursion a few weeks since, accompanied by his wife and son, the latter aged about 16 years. Mr. Newman says:

Howard Newman went West with his father and mother and the balance of the editorial excursion and literally grew up with the country. He was one year, one month, and even an enterprising boy could not be expected to grow much in that length of time, but Howard grew five inches in height and increased in flesh twenty-three pounds. He went out a boy and came back a man. If any of the able editors, their wives or men who went along as editors "for this trip only" got any more out of the journey than Howard we should like to hear from them.

MAJ. JOHN H. SIMPSON of San Francisco, a member of the last Republican State Central Committee, is in the city. In an interview, yesterday, Maj. Simpson stated that he had no doubt about the Republicans carrying New York. Said he: "When D. O. Mills, Chancey Dewey, the Seligmans and the allied financial interests of New York get behind a man as they are behind Mr. Reid they will furnish such substantial campaign assistance as will secure the electoral vote of that State. I have no apprehension about New York and no care about Indiana, for I regard the latter State as safely Democratic as Kentucky. But we don't need Indiana; it cuts no figure, for Harrison will carry every other State which he carried in 1888."

According to the last circular of Henry Clegg & Co., the stock jobbers are seriously alarmed about the Anti-Option Bill. They now fear that the Senate will adopt the measure, and that the inviting gamble of trading in futures will be done for. The circular says: "We learn that, at Liverpool, arrangements are in contemplation for taking up the American option business, if it by law becomes prohibited in this country. This would give to England the complete control of the cotton markets of the world, seriously to the detriment of the cotton-growers in this country." We fail to see wherein the elimination of a purely speculative system would do any harm to the legitimate industry of marketing the cotton crop. The cotton-growers, as well as the producers of wheat, corn, oats, meats and other staples, also fall to see it.

SOME of the Democratic papers of the State of the more independent sort make no bones of saying that the California delegates to the Chicago convention made a regular mess of things. In other words they cooked their goose in advance and have cut off all hope of Federal recognition even if their party is successful. Their first break was in formally declaring that, although they had been instructed to vote for Cleveland and proposed to carry out the contract, they didn't believe he could be elected. As the Stockton Mail puts it, "They would help the cause with a hand that was shackled, but with the other they would harm it as much as they could." Then, the factional fight against Col. John P. Irish was effectively aired before the Democratic representatives of the Nation in the good old California fashion, and this circumstance does not promise harmony with a large H. or future Spills of Office with upper case S and O.

AN organized effort is to be made in this city to rescue the unfortunate Chinese women from the degrading bondage of lust in which they are held. To this end the Union Chinese Women's Home Society has been formed by a number of philanthropists, ladies, and, in an open letter published today, they ask some owner of a vacant building suitable for the purpose to donate the use of it for a year for the establishment of a house of refuge. There will probably be little trouble in securing proper quarters. Next a considerable fund must be raised to furnish the building, support the inmates and carry forward the work of rescue. Undoubtedly there is a deep feeling of indignation against the abominable system of slavery which is maintained in our very midst in defiance of all American law and equity. People of every religious denomination and of none at all will undoubtedly take an interest in furthering this humanitarian enterprise. The ladies who are starting the good work have only to specify what assistance they require, and we are certain that it will be forthcoming.

Shall We Have a New State Committee?

The Republican State Convention, which was elected to elect four delegates to the national convention, took it upon itself to select, through its chairman, a State Central Committee. It is admitted that a State convention is the highest power in the party, and that each body is a power unto itself, but that last convention, through its president, selected a committee, and gave it charge of the conduct of party affairs. There were no candidates selected by that convention to be voted for by the people; for it did not select delegates at-large. The Executive Committee organized and then inaugurated an active campaign against the nomination of Mr. Harrison. The entire committee telegraphed the California delegation to vote for Blaine. In every way possible they tried to defeat the desire of the friends of the President, the substantial reason being that Blaine was the only man who could carry California for the Republican ticket. The friends of the President look upon this action of the committee as worse than indecent—that it was a usurpation of power, a prostitution of the campaign executive machinery against the President representing the principles of the party, and therefore unites the committee for the faithful discharge of the duties of conducting a campaign in behalf of the man who was nominated over their protest, and of whom they practically declared that he could not be elected if nominated.

It will be clearly within the power of the State convention which meets in July to select Presidential electors, to create a committee which it will regard as entirely in sympathy with the election of the electors whom it will place in nomination. This course would remove any friction which the continuation of the present committee has caused or will cause. The trouble should be adjusted by the next convention. In order that the Republicans of California may present a united front to the common enemy.

There is a great deal of complaint that the Republican State Central Committee, which issued the call for the election of delegates to the State convention, should have permitted the members of the committee from the Sixth District, to fix the time and place of holding the Congressional convention. All the other districts have left that matter to be settled by the delegates who are yet to be elected, and there seems to be no good reason why the delegates from this district should be permitted to lead strings before they are elected. If the whole business is to be cut and dried in advance, why go to the inconvenience and expense of holding a convention at all? The different candidates are now making their campaigns for delegates, and it looks as though the nomination will be made by votes from outside of this county—a condition which may result in Los Angeles losing the nomination, so that it will matter very little where the convention is held, so far as results are concerned—the protest being against the action of the committee. No other district is so commanded, and this one should not be.

The Street Railway Situation.

A misleading statement has been published to the effect that the Cable railway has been absorbed by the Electric Company, which would change the operation of the lines of the former company.

The plain facts are that neither of the companies is carrying operating expenses and fixed charges. The outstanding first mortgage debt of the Cable Company is $1,140,000, while that of the Electric Company is $1,250,000. The Cable Company defaulted its interest on $888,000 of its bonds, but they were not protested because $746,000 of them were locked up in a partial pool with the $1,600,000 of Electric bonds. Messrs. I. W. Hellman, James G. Fair and W. W. Alvord, president of the Bank of California, have taken the matter in hand and are proposing a consolidation of both properties. If the consolidation can be effected the control of the whole property will be in the hands of these three gentlemen. But before this condition can be brought about there will have to be a foreclosure of the first mortgage on the Cable property, subject to redemption by the subsequent creditors.

all of which will require a year at least. The owners of the electric property do not own $1 of cable bonds, and never did, and the scheme is that only holders of electric bonds will be interested with the owners of cable bonds in the reorganized property.

The outline of this plan of consolidation is for the holders of the $1,140,000 cable bonds and of the $1,250,000 electric bonds to pool their holdings, and when the foreclosure suits shall have been concluded, a new issue of $3,000,000 in first mortgage bonds is to be made on the whole property. Of this sum the bondholders of the Cable Company will receive $1,140,000, and the electric bondholders $1,250,000. Senator Fair holds $480,000 of the electric bonds, which will be united with the $1,140,000 of cable bonds, and this will place in the hands of his party a total of $1,620,000 out of $2,390,000 bonds. The $610,000 bonds remaining will be used for the benefit of the consolidated property, so it can be seen at a glance that the combine of the cable bondholders with Senator Fair's holdings places the control of the property in the hands of the gentlemen named.

It is likely that the scheme will go through because the financial condition of both companies makes it a necessity to save the investment of the bondholders in both. The stock of both companies will be wiped out and with it all unsecured indebtedness.

There will be a great many changes in existing lines. Fully half of the mileage of the two systems will have to be abandoned, because the competing parallel lines are not now paying operating expenses.

An Error Corrected.

An interview with Col. H. G. Otis, editor of THE TIMES, was published by the San Francisco Examiner Thursday morning last. It contained an important particular. It said that he would do all in his power to elect Cleveland. For Cleveland read Harrison and the mistake of the interview will be corrected. Col. Otis's position has already been stated in THE TIMES and is reiterated from day to day. If he had been disposed to oppose the election of the Republican ticket he would not have felt it incumbent upon himself to go away from home to make the announcement.

Snap Justice at San Pedro.

THE TIMES yesterday printed a communication from James Hanlan, a canvasser for some publication, who claims that he has been made the victim of Dogberry justice at San Pedro. He says that when he visited that place last Thursday the first man he interviewed was the justice of the peace. The magistrate talked very affably to him, but whether he subscribed or not is not stated. On the following day, however, the canvasser was arrested on a John Doe warrant, charging him with violating a city ordinance in canvassing without a license. He was arraigned before the magistrate of his preceding day's acquaintance and found him no longer affable, but stern and overbearing. The canvasser was duly punished for infringing the San Pedro ordinance and threatened with another fine for contempt of court. Mr. Hanlan fortunately had money enough to pay his fine and thus escaped ignominious imprisonment. He now wishes to inquire why the justice of the peace, knowing the object of his visit, did not inform him of the San Pedro ordinance at the first interview and thus keep him from breaking the law and suffering the penalty. It is a very obvious and a very proper question to ask. If the circumstances are correctly stated it looks as though the San Pedro justice is farming his office for the revenue it will bring. The matter will bear looking into.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—Frank Daniels and Little Luck entertained another large crowd at the house last night. The sold-out sign, "Standing room only," being again hung out in the box office window. The audience, though not quite so fashionable as that of Thursday evening, was more enthusiastic. The program was repeated, and the company were compelled to respond. Mr. Daniels received quite a number of ovations on singing one of the latest London costumer songs. Little Luck will be repeated tonight. There will be no matinee.

A Chinese Woman's Home.

TO the good people of Los Angeles—DEAR FRIENDS: We feel that the time has come when we must have a building prepared and a mission assigned to take charge of a home for these sister women, who are in such deplorable condition. The work is a peculiar one and calls for help from all good people of whatever nation or creed. The Christian women of this city are engaged in so many good works that they cannot possibly give attention to one particular part. We are praying that the Lord may open up a way to provide a house at once, and we ask any good man or woman who may have a suitable place empty if he or she will give the use of it, rent free, for one year. We ask it for Christ's sake. He who will give this poor woman a shelter for one year may God bless him or her abundantly in our prayer. Please leave word at THE TIMES office or at the First Congressional Church between the hours of 1:30 and 3:30, and the ladies will see to it.

POLITICAL POINTS.

One of the Cleveland organs argues that it is impossible that Cleveland should fail to carry New York, because that State is "Democratic by 47,000 majority." But where was that Democratic majority the last time that Cleveland ran? Ask Hill. The state made on sugar and potatoes on the sugar bounty, by some crank Democrats in Congress has met with a complete failure. The attack was a piece of pure demagoguery. The bounty was considered as safe this session from the attacks of all demagogues, and it is scarcely likely that the state will have another Congress with so large a demagogic element in it as the present one. [New Orleans Times-Democrat.]

Never until yesterday, probably, had a national convention of one political party been known to widely cheer the name of a statesman of another party. The spectacle presented by the Democratic party of the Nation in convention assembled when it shouted their hoarsest at the name of James G. Fair, is something nearly or quite unique in history. In the annals of mankind nothing like it can be found. The incident is illustrative of the fact that the reformers are not necessarily linked together by methods. Education and manual labor are the sheet anchors of reform. Their processes are inevitably gradual and slow.

Good homes and steady employment of the laboring classes is the ultimate return to respectable living, and such vicious women as are penitent—homes open to

POLITICS AND THINGS.

"Jayhawker" Talks Reminiscently and Otherwise.

Telling Some Things About "Interior Politics."

A Campaign That Cost a Great Deal of Money.

Senator Stanford Now Eliminated from the Campaign—A Situation of Affairs That May Well Be Faced Candidly.

IN SAN PEDRO, June 24. The superlative of idiosyncrasy is illustrated in the effort to change the editor of THE TIMES the charge that he will support the Democratic nominee, Mr. Cleveland, as against the Republican candidate, Mr. Harrison. Mr. Harrison was not the choice of THE TIMES, nor was he the choice of nine-tenths of the Republicans of the Pacific Coast, and any attempt to make it appear that he was would be laughed down the wind. The essence of the objection to Mr. Harrison was the belief that he could not carry California, while other men could. The loss of California means loss of Congressmen, Legislators, and county officials—local government to the Republicans. This State was carried for the Republicans in 1890 by Senator Stanford. His majority on the Legislative ticket exceeded 40,000, the largest majority ever given to any man in California. But it was the most expensive campaign ever witnessed in this State. It is not an exaggeration to place the campaign outlay from all sources at not less than $600,000, or an average of $800 for each Republican vote cast in that campaign. No man could have carried the State by 40,000 majority on the Legislative ticket who had expended $800 for each vote. If Senator Stanford had been eliminated from the campaign the Democratic majority would have been over 10,000. As it was Gov. Markham fell 6000 votes short of the average vote of the State. The loss of the 40,000 of which were lost in Los Angeles county, after adding to it the vote of Orange county.

While the nominal issue of the campaign of 1890 was the McKinley tariff, the real issue was the amount of money invested in the direct and indirect purchase of votes. The voters of California have never passed on the merits of the administration of Mr. Harrison or the merits of the McKinley tariff, but they have passed on the merits of the campaign, viz: The tariff, civil service and the offices, and the first is more apparent than real. The Republicans have adopted the protection of the Democrats demand a tariff, which will produce a revenue sufficient for the wants of economical administration.

Neither party seems to know what economy means. If the public is to judge by the expenditures, the tariff, by the last Congress, and the present one; hence the tariff cannot be reduced without a vast reduction in expenditures or a similar increase in the public debt. Mr. Arthur and Mr. Cleveland both agreed the expenditures by votes, an experiment not ventured upon by Mr. Harrison. A President who would veto extravagant appropriations could reduce the rate of interest on the public debt, and the rate of interest on the public debt would be reduced by a President who would veto extravagant appropriations. Mr. Cleveland made an effort to enforce in part the civil service law, and received the condemnation of many of the voters in his party. He is the only one of the two who has the honor of allowing the civil service to serve out the terms for which they had been appointed, a precedent which Mr. Harrison ignored.

The third issue of the campaign, is the one which influences the office workers. As Mr. Harrison has the offices now filled, the only campaign workers whom he will have of that class, will be the Federal Brigade and the candidates on the ticket. Mr. Cleveland will have the support of all aspirants in his own party, and also of all Republicans who are "inclined to mugwumpism." While in office he took good care of the office workers, and can be relied upon to do so again.

Mr. Harrison's campaign financial support must come from one source only—the assessment of office-holders, and if these assessments are paid, the country has lost their places for four years to come.

Intelligent, independent voters will do their own thinking and reach their own conclusions as to the relative merits of the two candidates. The influence of the press of the country is that Harrison and Cleveland are both respectable men; that Cleveland is a better record by which he can be judged—that the party issues are practically unchanged since 1888, and therefore the choice will be of men quite as much as of principles. The country has adopted the business to the conditions and legislation resulting from the election of 1888, and the conservative commercial and manufacturing voters will not take any step which would bring about a renewal of the tariff issue. They want stability above all things, and they will be likely to act with the Republicans. It is the belief of men of experience in public affairs that the protectionists in the Democratic party will be governed more by their business instincts than by any sentiment in favor of a man or a party.

such women should contain no young people of either sex. Only motherly, elderly women should be permitted to attempt such benevolence. The average wife will maintain, to the point of idiosyncrasy, that her husband is chaste; though she admits all the rest of the world of men to be impure. A common sin should meet a common penalty. Men and women alike should share the same punishment for the same crime. Transgressors of the law of purity, if there are Christians utterly disinterested at the magnitude of the task of reforming abandoned women, there is not a good woman anywhere, young or old, who can not make her abhorrence of immorality known by her own example. She meets without overstepping the bounds of propriety, nor even those of delicacy. If there is little hope of reforming fallen women, there is the greatest ease in compelling their pariahs to stand on the same plane of dishonor.

Moral police control is greatly aided by artificial light. A gas burner in the vicinity of a safe is proved to be more efficient protection than night watchmen. The prevalence of robbery and crime is immediately lessened in Rome in 1870, when the streets were lighted. The time is coming when the charge that the "Jayhawker" cities will be too bright to hide crime. Political economy is no more than domestic economy exercised in a broader field. No household can afford to neglect the means to harbor moths and decay. Sunshine and fresh air are her remedies. Let moral light pervade every neighborhood, till there is no place for hiding. There is no good woman, who must live near the haunts of vice, who cannot, without leaving her daily work of her house, discover and record the victims of men to disreputable places, and so aid municipal surveillance. It is objected that hissing and shouting may be as effective as a chaste woman's dress, and his reputation can never be endangered. Will the streets be full of shouting women, who, alone, but for the sake of the manhood of husbands and fathers, which is more precious to the community.

This work, in our opinion, can be done only by the united efforts of good women and good men, after consultation over possible methods of using latest moral force.

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I am surprised at the apathy of Los Angeles people in connection with Maj. Dane's lectures. In Cincinnati he has lectured twice, and in many cities he has been given in the Grand Opera-house under the auspices of the Civic Club on Sunday afternoon, beginning at 3 p.m., and I have seen the house packed with an audience of 1800 to 2000 persons, including standing room in the lobby. Before the lecture the stroke of the clock. Maj. Dane's lectures are not only full of information presented in a vivid and compact form, but they are genuine oratory. He is one of the very few orators I have ever heard that could hold a vast audience for an hour and a half, and he is one of the few who speak with the keenest interest. I use strong expressions, but they are warranted by the power, genius and originality displayed by Maj. Dane in every matter he handles on the platform, and he is keenly appreciated by the largest and most cultured audiences in the East.

Woes of the Wedgwood.

[New York World.]

The case of the Illinois physician who went mad on the morning of his wedding day is an illustration of the tendency of impudently displaying the body below the masculine mind. It happens not commonly, but often enough to be easily remarked that prospective bridegrooms lay violent hands on themselves or run away, without any apparent reason, on the eve of their marriage. Such phenomena are probably due less to real impediments or strong aversion to marriage than to a demoralized state of the intellects brought about by too anxious a consideration of the seriousness of the proposed change. As the chance of backing out gets less the happy man gets panicky, until suddenly his wits go back on him and he runs, just as green troops often do when they are drawn up with nothing to do but await the approach of the enemy. Curiously enough, it doesn't often happen that way with brides, the reason being, perhaps, that the father's grief was accompanied with their tresses and wedding plans to worry unduly as to whether marriage will suit them or not.

Stanley a Failure on the Stump—His Wife Speaks for Him.

Bismarck Has an Opinion on the Marquis de Mores Arrested for Killing Mayer—Terribly Fatal Landslide in Italy.

By Telegraph to THE TIMES.

LONDON, June 24.—[Copyrighted 1892 by the New York Associated Press.] Gladstone's home rule scheme, which the Conservatives assert is still in embryo, has been communicated in detail to Rosebery, Morley, Harcourt and other Liberals. Some of its more critical points have been discussed with the Irish leaders, with the assurance that if a general election places Gladstone in power the bill will be presented at the autumn session of Parliament. A representative of the Associated Press learns that the leading features of the measure of 1886 will be retained with the following exceptions: Clause 4, restricting the powers of the Irish Legislature is enlarged, and further guarantees relating to denominational education are provided; next, the constitution of the legislative body will be modified by raising a number of members to the first order, or Upper House, who, as in the first bill, will hold office for ten years. The much-debated clause 24, removing Irish peers from the Lords and members from the Commons disappear in the new bill, the representation of Ireland in the Imperial Parliament remaining the same as at present. To meet the threatened active or passive resistance of the Ulsterites to the Irish Parliament by non-payment of taxes, the bill will be extended to insure the employment of police and military forces to enforce the payment of all taxes leviable by the Irish Parliament.

A comparison of forecasts of the result of the elections shows much variance in the estimates. Balancing the reports from the various sides an impartial forecast is that Gladstone will obtain no majority that will enable him to act independently of the Irish party.

Among the incidents of the week is the remarkable letter Prof. Tyndall sent to the Dublin University convention. The professor denounces the evil genius of Gladstone and blames the arch-detractor, Morley, for first planting the microbe of repeal in the brains of his honorable friend. Prof. Tyndall predicts that the first Lord of the Treasury in Ulster for the sake of Archbishop Walsh and Timothy Healy will arouse a feeling of evil sweeping Gladstone's Irish policy to perfection.

Henry M. Stanley, who is to contest Lambeth in the Unionist interest, made his first stump speech to the electors today. He proved a tame and awkward speaker. He retired to allow his wife an opportunity to speak. She won the audience at once, and declared that her husband was the finest man in England, and said he was straight as a die, adding "What he says he means without fear or favor." This eulogium won her hearers, who yelled "We will vote for Stanley."

Timothy Healy finds it dangerous to openly appear on the streets of Dublin. He was recognized there Tuesday and set upon by a mob who maltreated him. Mr. Barbour, member of the India Council, with Sir John Freeman, Chief of the Mint Department, will probably be the British delegates to the International Monetary Conference. Barbour is a prominent bimetalist. He is a member of the Finance Committee, and signed with Lord Lansdowne, Sir Henry Breckenbury and other members of the viceroy's council, the recent minute to the Secretary of State for India, urging the government to lend the "United States" proposals its strongest support.

The minute, which is just issued by the Foreign Office, says that the violent oscillations since 1890 and the rapid decline in the price of silver have caused the mercantile community the gravest anxiety. If an international agreement is not attained the United States Government, sooner or later, will be driven to adopt the silver standard or abandon the purchase of silver. The cessation by the United States of purchasing silver cannot fail to further depress the price of that metal. The British government ought to consider measures calculated to protect India and to reduce the fluctuations in the relative value of gold and silver.

The Parliamentary Committee of the Trade Union's Council yesterday passed a resolution declaring that the council trusted the international conference would result in a stable exchange being secured between the moneys of the gold and silver-using countries.

THE DE MORES-MAYER DUEL.

Details of the Fatal Meeting—What the Marquis de Mores Said.

PARIS, June 24.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Marquis de Mores is deeply grieved at the fatal outcome of his duel with Capt. Mayer. He says the combat was fought under conditions which ought to have prevented a fatal termination. Mayer belonged to the Engineer Corps and was regarded by his friends as a brilliant officer. Mayer was a Hebrew and the duel arose out of a remark of De Mores that no Jew ought to be a member of the army.

The duel was fought with sword. The terms were that the duellists were not to come to the closest quarters and to cease when one received a wound placing him in a position inferior to his adversary. When the duellists had taken their positions the Marquis

PORTLAND (Or.), June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] A telephone message was received from Hillsboro, twenty miles distant, this evening, stating that a man named Sullivan was arrested today while drunk. After being placed in jail he confessed to having outraged and murdered Mamie Walsh, a young girl, near Milwaukee on Wednesday night. He told the location of her hat and a small pill which she carried when last seen.

The authorities at Milwaukee were notified and a party started in search of the hat and pill. There is little reason to doubt that Sullivan is the murderer, and if the hat and pill are found in the spot pointed out by him, it is said a mob will go to Hillsboro from Milwaukee and attempt to lynch Sullivan.

A BLAZE AT JULIAN.

A Hotel, Several Residences and Other Buildings Burned.

SAN DIEGO, June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] Meager details of a conflagration at Julian come from Stone-wall by telephone. All buildings on the south side of Main street and the west side of Washington street, except one lively stable, were totally destroyed. The Mountain View Hotel, Turf saloon, a restaurant, saloon and lodging-house, Harriet's blacksmith shop, the residences of Dr. Hopkins and Thomas Burdy are burned. The Julian Hotel was saved with difficulty.

The loss is estimated at $35,000, insurance not known. The fire originated in an alley between the Turf saloon and restaurant. The Mountain View Hotel was valued at $8000 and insured for $4000.

FRESNO, June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The Commercial Hotel at Sanger was burned this evening. The loss is $8000 and the insurance small. Nothing was saved. It was a frame building, and burned to the ground in fifteen minutes.

A man named Freeman House jumped from a four-story window and was terribly burned all over the body and may die.

Persons heard cries in the building and think one or more persons were burned to death.

NEVADA'S THIRD PARTY.

Free Silver Will be Its Watchword in the Campaign.

RENO (Nev.), June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The third party convention, composed of advocates of the free coinage of silver, met here today. Hon. Thomas Wren was temporary chairman. In his speech he urged the people of Nevada to shake off allegiance to the two old parties, and give their support entirely to the free coinage movement. After the appointment of committees a short recess was taken, and when the convention resumed C. C. Powning of Reno was elected permanent chairman.

The platform was then submitted. It demands the full remonetization of silver and the free and unlimited coinage thereof at the present rate of 16 to 1. It denounces the action upon the coinage question of the recent National Republican and Democratic convention and repudiates the nominees of both conventions. It pledges Presidential electors selected by the convention to support no man for President who is not unqualifiedly in favor of free coinage and confers upon the Silver League of Nevada the right to direct the Presidential electors for whom they shall cast their votes.

The platform was adopted. The "Silver party of Nevada" was then selected as the name of the new organization. Three Presidential electors were chosen and twelve delegates to the Omaha convention were appointed, after which the convention adjourned till tomorrow.

The Governor of the State Asks Troops to Prevent Violence.

BOISE CITY (Idaho), June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] Gov. Wiley has asked the President to order troops to the scene of the miners' lockout in the Cour d'Alene district of Northern Idaho. Serious trouble is impending. It is understood that the injunctions sued out against the union miners by the mine owners are quite certain to be dissolved on Tuesday next, and it is said the union men will then attempt to drive the "scabs" from the district. Both sides are said to be heavily armed.

Drowned Near the Cliff House.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—An Englishman named Brooks and a German friend were walking along the beach near the Cliff House this morning. Brooks challenged his friend to a swimming match, but the latter refused. Brooks, however, entered the water, but soon threw up both hands and sank without a cry. It is supposed he was seized by the undertow.

A Sealing Brig Sunk.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—A brief telegram was received here today from Fort Townsend stating that the sealing brig "Alexander" was wrecked on St. Paul's Island April 20 and is a total loss. All hands were saved and will return to Port Townsend on the steamer Bertha. The Alexander belonged to San Francisco. She left here some months ago. The vessel was partly insured.

Hon. George W. Cassidy Dead.

RENO (Nev.), June 24.—Hon. George W. Cassidy, Democratic nominee for Congress, died of apoplexy this afternoon. He was in a condition of collapse when he was taken to the hospital. He had served two terms in Congress from this State.

Got His Ball Reduced.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Judge Morrow today reduced the bail of M. D. Howell of Stockton, charged with counterfeiting, from $20,000 to $15,000.

The various labor organizations of the city are at work preparing for a grand labor demonstration and mass-meeting in Turnverein Hall on next Monday evening. The work has been actively carried on by the committees from the Clerks' Association and the Council of Labor.

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

PRESIDENT WIDNEY'S RECEPTION.

The annual reception tendered by Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Widney to the students and friends of the University of Southern California occurred last evening at their handsome home on South Hill street. The glow of Japanese lanterns hung amid the palms and shrubs bordering the walk leading to the porch illuminated the entrance. Within, the rooms were brilliant with lights, fragrant with flowers and thronged with people representative of educational work. The president's reception is a purely official affair. Because of the numbers the invitations are necessarily restricted to those having official relationship with educational work. The list therefore includes the directors of the university with their wives, the boards of trustees and the boards of regents of all the colleges of the university and of all trust funds, with their wives, the deans and faculties of the colleges and seminaries, the graduates of the university, the graduates of the four colleges and the seminaries, all the ministers of the Southern California Conference, with their wives; the presidents of the other educational institutions of Southern California and the Pacific Coast and the editorial force of the city papers together with their wives. This makes up a list of about 400.

The guests were received last evening in the customary fashion by President Widney and his wife standing in the alcove separating the reception-room and hall. Passing through the double doors, beyond was the dining-room, where refreshments were served from a table, the guests seated about the room. Portraits of delicately-woven smilax were looped from the archways separating the apartments, giving an airy, bow-like effect. Roses shed their perfume from crystal jars and bowls, and panels inclined against the wall. The drawing-room across the hall proved the rallying point for the young doctors and older ones, who congregated here in great numbers, representative of the medical college, which is one of the most popular departments of the university. The hours of receiving were from 8 to 11. During that time the guests were constantly coming and going.

This annual social gathering given by the president and his estimable wife is one of the pleasant features of university life, and the memory of last night's reception will not be less delightful than that of its predecessors.

Prize Indued.

S. T. Pickard, editor of the Portland (Me.) Transcript, one of the most widely circulated journals of New England, has the following to say of his reaching California upon the occasion of the coming here of the editors last month:

Out of this desert, from which Dore might get new illustrations for Dante's "Inferno," we come suddenly to the turn on the mountain side that reveals the heavenly scenery and perfect climate of California. The transformation is instant and complete. Orange groves and vineyards, palm trees, flower gardens all bloom, roses running riot over porches and fences, luxuriant fields of grain stretching as far as the eye can reach. Here is life—here is reason for enthusiasm. The picture is all the more satisfactory for the horror of its framing. Lovely California is doomed to perpetual isolation such as this. The wide ocean at her west is not more inexorable than the arid plains at the east. But all dangers and discomforts will be gladly braved by those in search of a land of perpetual flowers, a climate the most mild and equable.

EAST SIDE MUSICALS.

The elite of East Los Angeles were out en masse last evening to witness the farce and musical at Campbell's Hall, given under the direction of Mrs. Coan-Hamby and Miss Bertha A. Penning. The audience was both large and appreciative, the encore being numerous.

The duet from "Il Trovatore," "Si la Stanzetta," was most beautifully sung by Miss Coan-Hamby and Miss Bertha A. Penning. Miss Ella Bryson's solo, "Tell Her I Love Her So," was sweetly sung. Special mention should be made of the "Lullaby" overture, arranged for mandolin and guitar. This selection was played by Miss A. Werner and Mrs. Bell, and was a treat to lovers of music.

The piece de resistance of the evening was the soprano solo, "The Rose-reef," sung by Miss Bertha Penning, whose sweet soprano-voice was heard at its best. The higher notes were taken clear and silvery as a bell and her expression was almost faultless. An encore was rapturously demanded, which she responded to with a lullaby, which was sung with much feeling.

Licensed to Wed.

Marriage licenses were issued at the County Clerk's office yesterday to the following persons:

P. R. Houdek, a native of Iowa, 34 years of age, to Jessie E. Haney, a native of Wisconsin, 21 years of age, both residents of Whittier.

S. Byrom Welcome, a native of Missouri, 31 years of age, of this city, to E. Mamie Muff, a native of Missouri, 24 years of age, of St. Louis.

An Unfortunate Error.

By an unfortunate error, Supervisor Hubbard was yesterday represented as a Democrat, and favoring the election of Cleveland. Mr. Hubbard is not now, never has been and says he never will be a Democrat. He does not believe Cleveland can be elected President over Harrison, and says that Harrison was his first choice for nominee by the Republican party.

Prof. Jack Fanning Batted All Over the Field.

Nineteen Safe Hits for a Total of Twenty-six Bags.

The Story of the Slugging Match Told by the Score, Which stood 16 to 6 in Favor of the Locals—The Special Features.

OT less than three times within the last three weeks has Uncle been almost within reach of second place in the pennant race, only to see the club that he was about to overhaul take another step forward while his own hired men dropped back a peg, leaving him scarcely in halting distance.

Prof. Jack Fanning was the victim yesterday afternoon, and the way he was hammered around that baseball park almost caused his friend, Commodore Tredway, to shed real (crocodile) tears. The professor was in no condition to pitch, as his hand is very sore and he had no control of the little ball whatever. But the Angels did not stop for ceremony, and whenever the professor did float one across the plate it was smote by one of the local wagon tongues in no uncertain manner. In all, nineteen safe shots were made off his delivery, for a total of twenty-six bags, and besides this, eight men pranced down the line with a gift of first base by Mr. Fanning—something very unusual, indeed, for him.

The one victim Jack's delivery possessed yesterday was speed. The ball was sent whizzing through, sometimes in front of the batsman and sometimes behind him. In the seventh inning one of his swift shots caught Hulen under the ribs and the "old" retired from the game, dragged himself out behind the bleachers, where he spit up a section of his diaphragm or something of the kind, and little Jimmy Stafford was switched over to third, Balz going out into the right garden.

The mascot yesterday was "Rasty" Wright, Jr., and but for the solicitation of his mother, who insisted on taking him off the field, the Angels would probably be running the bases yet. Little "Rasty" certainly enjoyed the applause he received. The little fellow is about 4 years old, and when he suddenly loomed up on the coaching lines, struck the attitude which marks an old leaguer and began shouting his baby voice the San Franciscoers were not "in it," and six runs were piled up in the first two innings.

Jack Roach, the old reliable south-paw, was again in the box for the locals, and he was as steady as the rock of Gibraltar. For seven innings he pitched shut-out ball. Not a man scored off his pitching, the two runs for the third inning crossing in when Tredway dropped Peck Sharp's fly and Roach had been reached. Five of the ten hits made by Roach came in the last two innings, when he was simply tossing the ball across the plate.

Every man among the Angels got from one to four hits except Balz, who toed the plate only once, and contributed to a healthy sacrifice. Stafford broke off four safe ones, while Hasamaear took a single, double and a triple. Some nice work was done in the field, also. Honors were even between Glenalvin and Sharp at second, both of them doing some clever work. Hanley, Tredway and Balz each made a nice catch in the field, and both the catchers showed up well. Strong and Levy furnished some amusement when the former went after the latter's bounding hit between first and second, captured it with one hand and beat Reuben to the bag with a neck to spare. Hasamaear had eight chances in the short field and accepted them all, which caused Uncle Harris, who remarked before the season opened that he did not consider "Gentle Willie" worth his salt, to cast a big stone round about by shifting his feet not less than eight times.

Following is the story of yesterday's game in figures:

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Regular Meeting of the Los Angeles County Committee.

The Los Angeles County World's Fair Committee held their regular meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday morning.

Mr. Forrester occupied the chair and Frank Wiggins acted as secretary. The other members present were Messrs. Wells, Teale, Vawter, Klokke, Lukens, Coffman, Dunham.

The Standing Committee on Citrus Trees and Fruit Trees generally reported that they had about all the trees taken up that it would do to remove this late in the season, but the fall for their promise of a considerable number of deciduous trees that would be boxed and shipped with the balance of the trees next spring. They also reported the trees in the storage lot as doing well and making a fine row.

The committee on dried and canned fruit and packages for the same reported that Los Angeles county's portion of the display jars were at the disposal of the committee ready to be filled with the display fruit. The same were stored in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The matter of display jars for domestic canning was brought up and the committee reported that they were unable to find other than the Mason or Lightning jars, the pattern of which was unobtainable for display purposes.

The only jars to be had immediately were the inverted bottle cereal jars, which San Diego had adopted for their use. As the time is drawing nigh for the canning of apricots the committee was instructed to order an invoice of this jar immediately. During the session Braun & Co. sent in a sample jar they had just received from the Canton Fruit Jar Company, which the committee took favorable action upon. If the terms are favorable they will order for the summer and fall canning season.

The Citrus Committee reported favorable progress. The Los Nietos Valley reported through Mr. Coffman that they would take special pains to select the tallest corn stalks to be found and look after big pumpkins and melons.

Mr. Teale and Mr. Forrester reported that they had both secured fine specimens of growing grain, and had promises of samples of grain as soon as threshed. Mr. Klokke reported that the honey interest in this county had done little or nothing toward making a display in this line. He referred to the circulars just received from Chief Buchanan, in which he said that the honey men could make entries either for this crop or the crop of '93. The latter would be received between the 15th of July and the 15th of August, 1893.

He supposed that the difficulty was that the bees were making very little honey this year, and that the bee men would enter their exhibits from the crop of '93.

The Committee on Mines and Mining made no report other than the statement made by Mr. Wells that the State Commission would furnish cases in the State building.

The Committee on Transportation reported that the rate on exhibits to the World's Fair had been established at one-half rate each way.

The Committee on Display reported that the Pacific Fruit company had made an offer to furnish the committee with two dozen of each variety of the fruits that they put up, in their improved glass jar, to be used in the general display, and also offered to fill two dozen regular display jars with such fruits as were deemed suitable for such purposes. This display was to be independent of their own competitive exhibit. The committee also reported that in a general application for space they had filed in behalf of Los Angeles county for 1000 square feet in the agricultural building, and 1500 square feet in the horticultural department and 200 square feet in the department of mines and mining, these being independent of the applications already made by individuals.

The chairman stated that the fruit jars that had been received would have to be paid for before the next regular meeting of the committee, and suggested that some one be authorized to pay the bill and get the benefit of the thirty days' discount. Upon motion the president and secretary were authorized to pay the bill.

Mr. Klokke referred to the resolution passed by the California Commission wherein it was suggested that one member from each county organization should be appointed as one of the general committee of the State to have access to the State Commission at any and all times. It was moved and carried that Mr. Wells be appointed as such committee man from this organization.

The board then adjourned.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

President Manvel and the Intentions of the Santa Fe.

Visiting the Rules at Barstow—New Trail Service—Related Overland Trains—General, Local and Personal.

The San Francisco Post of yesterday says that in making a visit to San Francisco at this special time President Manvel, of the Santa Fe road, had the three following objects in view: First, to carefully inspect the Donohue road and to examine the books of that company; second, to see if another road could be built to Mojave as less cost than by purchasing the Donohue road and extending it; third, to consult with the officers of the Southern Pacific Company and to definitely settle whether the Santa Fe would be met by opposition of that corporation in event of concluding to build to San Francisco.

The Post says: "Since President Manvel has been in the city he has had more than one interview with President Burleigh, of the Donohue system. The books of the company have been open to President Manvel and to three colleagues who accompanied him. Those who are on the inside state that Mr. Manvel has come to the conclusion that the most practical way for the Santa Fe to get into this city will be for it to obtain control of the Donohue line, and that at the forthcoming sale of the road the Santa Fe will be the most prominent bidder."

THE COURTS.

A Sensational Episode During the Gibbs Trial.

The Lie Given to C. C. Stephens by Attorney McComas.

Testimony all in and the Case Partially Argued.

Examination into the Pomona Perjury Cases—Two Divorces Granted—The Freeman-Kiefer Suit—Bonner Convicted of Assault.

The trial of the case against ex-Councilman Edward A. Gibbs, charged with having obtained money from Herman Zuber, by means of false pretenses, was concluded in Department Six yesterday, so far as the taking of testimony was concerned, and the matter will, in all probability, be submitted to the jury at noon today.

The witnesses examined yesterday for the defense were J. W. Osborn, who testified to having given Gibbs a certificate of title to the land, after a search of the records, Mrs. Eloisa Gibbs, who stated that she was present when Zuber called to see her husband before the negotiation was completed, and heard the defendant read the complaint in the De Toro case to his visitor.

Mrs. Gibbs also testified that in February Zuber met her on North Main street and told her that he would send her husband to the penitentiary if it cost him all he had, at the same time applying opprobrious epithets to Gibbs.

During the course of his argument, C. C. Stephens, Esq., of counsel for the defense, called upon to produce the original papers in the De Toro case; and the files in case No. 5199, in the matter of the estate of Juan José Nieto, deceased, were offered, but were ruled out by the Court. The defense then rested, and after Zuber had been recalled in rebuttal, both sides closed.

The matter was then partially argued and went over until this morning.

of false representations. The taking testimony for the cross-complaint was not yet concluded, and the matter went over until Monday for further hearing.

GUilty AS CHARGED.
The Bonner case was submitted to the jury by Judge Smith in Department One at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and that body, after a deliberation of one hour and thirty minutes, returned a verdict of guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon, whereupon the Court ordered the defendant to appear for sentence on Monday next.

Court Notes.
Judge Van Dyke will preside in the Superior Court of San Bernardino County today, both of the local judges being disqualified from trying a case which comes up for hearing there this morning.

The trial of the "Temple street grade case" was concluded yesterday afternoon, the matter being submitted to Judge Shaw, without argument, after three witnesses had been examined on behalf of the city, in rebuttal.

G. J. Haller and Christian Gills, two Germans, J. Belobayev, an Austrian, and Marius Faix, a Frenchman, were duly admitted to citizenship of the United States by Judge McKinley yesterday, upon producing the necessary proofs of residence here and taking the requisite oaths of renunciation and allegiance, and Judge Smith performed a like service for Benjamin Balmer, an Irishman, and Joseph Dersch, a German.

New Suits.
Among the documents filed with the County Clerk yesterday were the preliminary papers in the following new cases:

Ira W. Phelps vs. Mary E. Johnston et al., suit to foreclose a mortgage for $750.

San Francisco and Fresno Land Company vs. Jabez Banbury et al., suit to obtain an injunction restraining defendants from leasing a delinquent tax sale deed to certain property.

Petition of W. M. Sheldon for letters of administration to the estate of Edward L. Baker, deceased, who died on December 22 last at Racine, Wis., leaving real estate in this county valued at $12,000.

The German Savings and Loan Society vs. Charles R. Johnson et al., suit to foreclose a mortgage for $10,000.

William Blythe vs. Joseph Charles Duncan et al., suit to foreclose a mortgage for $400.

Big Rock Creek Irrigation District vs. A. H. Shoemaker et al., suits to enjoin defendants from diverting the waters of the Rio de Llanos from their natural channels.

How 5 per Cent. per Month Can be Earned.
It is only in real estate that large profits can be made securely. A number of photographs of the wonderful improvements made in the Colony can be seen at the office, 230 North Main street. They prove the statements made in the prospectus of the Colony enterprise.
